

— STRUCTURAL ADVISORY

ENGAGEMENT PATHWAYS

How the Commitment Inquiry connects to the work Compositions does next — what each engagement examines, what it produces, and how to know which one fits.

COHERENT BY DESIGN. CREDIBLE OVER TIME.

— WHAT COMPOSITIONS IS

Compositions is a Structural Communications Firm — not a traditional agency, not a general consultancy. Most firms polish the message; we look at whether the decisions and systems behind it can actually make it true. We don't just help you say it better — we help you make it real.

— HOW ORGANIZATIONS BEGIN

Every engagement starts with a question, not a predetermined deliverable. The Commitment Inquiry is the front door — a complimentary, self-guided way to name what's not landing the way it should and get a clear read on what to do about it.

- 01 Commitment Inquiry — complimentary, self-guided, ~10 minutes. You already completed this. It gave you a preliminary Commitment Position Profile and a starting-point recommendation, based only on what you shared — not on us reviewing your evidence or forming a judgment about your organization.
- 02 Executive Inquiry or Commitment Coherence Assessment — the two most common next steps, and the ones this guide is here to help you choose between. Which one fits depends on the shape of your question, not on which sounds bigger.
- 03 Deeper work, if it's warranted — strategy, communications, alignment, implementation, research, or ongoing advisory. Commissioned only once the evidence tells us what your situation actually requires — never before.

One thing worth knowing before you read further: the Executive Inquiry doesn't have to come before a Coherence Assessment. They answer differently shaped questions. If you have one specific decision to make, start with the Executive Inquiry. If you already know the question is bigger than one decision — or you genuinely don't know what's causing the result you're seeing — it's usually faster and more useful to start directly with an Applied Coherence Assessment.

— THE CORE COMPARISON

COMMITMENT INQUIRY · EXECUTIVE INQUIRY · COHERENCE ASSESSMENT

Three different ways to get help, sized to three different kinds of questions. The table below shows how they compare at a glance; the pages after it walk through each one in plain terms.

	COMMITMENT INQUIRY	EXECUTIVE INQUIRY	APPLIED COHERENCE ASSESSMENT	FULL COHERENCE ASSESSMENT
The question it answers	Where should I even start?	One specific decision I need to make	What's actually producing this result?	What's producing this result — the whole picture?
What we look at	Nothing yet — just what you told us	Up to 5 documents, 1–3 conversations	The relevant parts of the system	The whole commitment, everything relevant
Typical duration	10 minutes	7–15 business days	4–8 weeks	8–16 weeks
Starting investment	Complimentary	Starting at $5,000	Starting at $20,000	Starting at $40,000
What you walk away with	A profile and a next step	A clear answer and a recommendation	Findings, evidence, and next steps	A full report and a governance roadmap

COMMITMENT INQUIRY

COMPLIMENTARY · ~10 MIN

WHAT IT LOOKS AT

What you told us — ten observations, your readiness, who's sponsoring this, and what evidence you have access to.

WHAT YOU GET

A preliminary Commitment Position Profile, a plain-language read on what's worth a closer look, and a recommendation for where to start — instantly, and by email. (This is the step you've already completed.)

WHAT IT ISN'T

A diagnosis. We haven't reviewed your evidence or formed a judgment about your organization — just reflected the pattern your answers suggest.

EXECUTIVE INQUIRY

STARTING AT $5,000 · 7–15 DAYS

WHAT IT LOOKS AT

One specific question you need answered — up to five documents, a conversation with the person sponsoring the decision, and up to two more conversations if needed.

WHAT YOU GET

A clear written answer that separates what we know for certain from what's still uncertain, a recommendation for what to do next, and a conversation to walk through it together.

RIGHT FOR YOU IF

You have one decision to make, and you need a straight, well-informed answer you can act on quickly — not a full study.

APPLIED COMMITMENT COHERENCE ASSESSMENT

STARTING AT $20,000 · 4–8 WKS

WHAT IT LOOKS AT

FULL COMMITMENT COHERENCE ASSESSMENT

STARTING AT $40,000 · 8–16 WKS

WHAT IT LOOKS AT

The complete picture — every relevant dimension of how the commitment is defined, communicated, resourced, experienced, measured, and governed.

WHAT YOU GET

A comprehensive report, briefings for your executive team and board, a clear account of what's working and what isn't, and a roadmap for what comes next.

RIGHT FOR YOU IF

This touches multiple parts of your organization, and you need the complete picture — not just one piece of it — before you can move forward with confidence.

ORGANIZATIONAL COMMITMENT PORTFOLIO ANALYSIS

STARTING AT $60,000

WHAT IT LOOKS AT

What happens when more than one of your initiatives is competing for the same time, budget, or attention — the natural next step when several things are pulling in different directions at once.

WHAT YOU GET

A clear map of how your initiatives relate to and compete with one another, where the real conflicts are, and a governance approach for managing them together going forward.

RIGHT FOR YOU IF

Several of your initiatives are competing for the same time, budget, or attention, and you need help making sense of the whole picture — not just one piece of it.

— BUILDING THE JUDGMENT TO LEAD THIS WORK INTERNALLY

EXECUTIVE EDUCATION & LEADERSHIP TRAINING

Sometimes what's needed first isn't an assessment — it's a clearer shared understanding across your team before you decide whether to go further. This is delivered as a focused conversation (an executive briefing or board session), a working session that produces a real decision or artifact, or a short workshop — starting at $5,000, depending on format and depth.

■ THE STRUCTURAL CONDITIONS OF BELIEVABLE COMMUNICATION

What makes organizational communication believable in practice?

■ FROM COMMITMENT TO OPERATING CONDITIONS

Translating a stated priority into decisions, systems, and daily practice.

■ COMMITMENT OWNERSHIP & DECISION RIGHTS

Matching accountability to actual authority across functions.

■ GOVERNING COMMITMENTS OVER TIME

Building the review cadence and escalation paths that prevent drift.

■ WHAT EVERY ORGANIZATIONAL COMMITMENT REQUIRES

Defining a commitment clearly enough to communicate, operationalize, and govern it.

■ HOW TO RECOGNIZE STRUCTURAL CONTRADICTION

Reading the early signals before they become visible, costly patterns.

■ EVIDENCE DISCIPLINE FOR COMMITMENT OWNERS

Distinguishing activity from performance, and signal from finding.

■ INTRODUCTION TO ORGANIZATIONAL COMMITMENT PORTFOLIOS

Seeing what your commitments are producing together, not just individually.

WHERE TO BEGIN

You've already completed the Commitment Inquiry — so your results give us the context we need to recommend the smallest step that actually answers your question, not the largest one available. Reply to your results email, or use "Contact me about next steps" on your results page, and we'll follow up directly.

hello@compositionsadvisory.com
compositionsadvisory.com

COHERENT BY DESIGN. CREDIBLE OVER TIME.

This document provides general orientation to Compositions' commercial pathway. Scope, deliverables, and investment for any specific engagement are determined only after a conversation about your actual question, evidence, and organizational context. It does not constitute a proposal, quote, or commitment to engage.